This report is for the Learning Disability Partnership Board. This report tells about the work the Person-Centred Approaches Sub Group does to check on person-centred planning in Brighton & Hove.

Audit of Person Centred Plans:

The Person-Centred Approaches sub group asks all providers of learning disability services how many of their service users are supported to have person-centred plans. We call that an 'audit' of person-centred plans. The full report about this audit is on www.brightpart.org/pca.php.

Person Centred Plan Feedback Forms:

The sub group also ask all providers in the city to send the Person-Centred Approaches Sub Group a 'Person-Centred Plan Feedback Form' when they support a person to review their Person-Centred Plan.

We put all the feedback forms together and write a full report about the things people are telling us. That full report is on the Partnership Board Website at www.brightpart.org/pca.php for people to see if they want to.

The information from the feedback forms helps the Partnership Board and people who plan services to know what people with learning disabilities want.

What we found out this year:

831 people receive community support services funded by Brighton & Hove council. 456 of those people are supported in their person-centred planning by their community support service.

104 people who live with their families receive day services funded by Brighton & Hove and 85 of them were supported in their person-centred planning by their day services.

374 people live in accommodation services funded by Brighton & Hove and 363 of them have person-centred plans supported by their accommodation services.

This year 68 Person Centred Plan Feedback forms were received and entered into our Person Centred Plan Feedback database. Support staff help people to send in their feedback form after the person-centred plan is reviewed. 49 of this year's forms were from people who had sent forms in previous years and 19 of this year's forms were from people who had not sent one in before before.

The next pages show what people said in their feedback forms. In most cases the graphs show how this year's answers compare with previous years.
