

Person Centred Feedback Form Report for 2012

Brighton & Hove
Learning Disability Partnership Board
www.brightpart.org

This report is for the Learning Disability Partnership Board. This report tells us what people have said in their Person Centred Feedback Forms. These are forms people fill in to tell us what is happening with their person centred plans.

This is the fifth year we have collected Person Centred Feedback Forms. We ask all providers in the city to send the Person Centred Approaches Sub Group a 'Person Centred Feedback Form' when they support a person to review his or her Person Centred Plan.

We put all the forms together and write a full report about the things people are telling us. That full report is on the Partnership Board Website for people to see if they want to. This is a shorter version of the report.

This information helps the Partnership Board and people who plan services to know what people with learning disabilities want.

This year 108 Person Centred Feedback forms were received and entered into our Person Centred Feedback database. 46 of this year's forms were from people who also sent forms in previous years and 62 of this year's forms were from people who had not sent one in before before. We also received some more forms from last year so we put them into the database also.

The Person Centred Plans Audit 2011 told us:

Overall we found out that 81% of people funded by Brighton & Hove City Council have a Person Centred Plan during 2011.

During 2010 there were 78% of people with person centred plans so there has been a small increase overall.

My message to you is.....

On the front page of the feedback form people gave us a message:

I'm good at helping. I want to learn first aid.

I have just learnt how to knit!

I would like to continue some of the things I'm doing now. The PCP meeting made me feel confident.

I'm sad and lonely and want to move house

What people said about work or unpaid work:

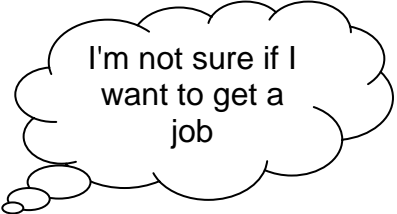

Happy with my voluntary work at the nursing home. My working days are soon to change due to company restructure but that's ok.

I am continuing to do my 2 jobs - courier run and paper round - and happy with these

Timetable quite full - when space in timetable will look for work

I'm not sure if I want to get a job

This year and last year a lot more people are reporting that they have employment. Not very many are getting paid for their work but that number is going up. This year twice as many said they were paid compared to the years before.

Almost half of the people who responded said that they would like to be employed or would like to stay employed if they already are. That is about the same as in previous years, except now a lot more of them do have work.

What people said about learning:

I don't want to go to college and I don't want anything
to change

I'm studying at college
at the moment

I learn about Art
at the Phoenix
Gallery

I am now learning road sense and how to use public transport and I am doing a session called me and others which helps me to deal with feelings and relationships.

This year fewer people said they are doing learning activity. Also, less people are saying that they are going to college now and more people are saying that they do their learning at home or at a day service.

Slightly fewer people are saying they want to do learning activity. Maybe that is because fewer are going to college now. Some people answer the questions about learning by saying they are not going to college without saying what it is they are doing instead.

What people said about leisure and fun:

I would like to try to go out with more staff members

I go swimming once a week. I am also supported by staff to go to social functions. I like dancing and dressing up

I have been on several shopping trips to Tunbridge Wells and have been to Bath and Campina

I am enjoying the singing group, and doing embroidery

Most people who answered questions about leisure and fun told us what sort of things they do in their leisure time.

As with previous years, 'Getting Out and About' and 'Social Events' were the most commonly referenced leisure types in both the 'how things are now' section and in the 'what I want to do or change' section.

This year people reported a desire to have more of, or more control over, their current activities more often than a desire to start something new.

Current leisure activities of all respondents

Types of activities

The kinds of activities comprising the categories in which leisure activities were grouped are listed below.

- Other hobbies & activities: cat cuddling and pets, activities at day services & organised leisure services, aromatherapy, receiving massage, music therapy, relaxing at home, sensory room, other hobbies
- Creating and performing: art/craft, drama, embroidery, film making, gardening, music, singing, writing

- Home Entertainment: computers, cooking, games consoles, garden games, listening to music, radio, sensory items at home, TV & video, word-searches
- Sport and exercise: basket-ball, bowling, climbing, Special Olympics, cycling, dancing, football, gym, horse-riding, hydrotherapy, ice skating, sailing, snooker, swimming, yoga
- Social events: clubs, meeting with family, meeting with friends, romance, church, social life at day service
- Town Activities: meals and drinks out, shopping, cinema, concerts, football matches, live music, puzzles, shows, theatre & pantomime, bingo, gambling, library
- Getting out and about: bus/train journeys, day trips, drives, holidays, walking and just getting out

What I really want to change or do is...

What stops this change from happening in 2011-12?

What stops the change from happening in all years put together?

- access & safety
- availability
- schedules
- resources & money
- service users issues
- staff & support
- transport

What people said about feeling well and good about myself

I have often seen the nurse at the surgery to get advice and support to give up smoking although have yet to succeed. Staff will continue to support me to attend future appointments if I choose to go

I find the difficult benefits system worrying and difficult

I do exercises at the day centre and feel in good health

I like to look after my appearance and do my washing every day

More people said they mostly feel good than in previous years.

More exercise and a healthier diet are usually the things that people most want to change. However, this year a lot of people said they also want to make changes to the way their support is organised and to how they feel emotionally and that they want some sort of medical service as well.

What people said about friends, family and relationships

I enjoy my family visits they are very important to me, I am looking forward to organising my 50th birthday party with them

I have a good relationship with my boyfriend and I am happy in this relationship

Mum and Dad are both in their 80's and in ill health and this makes it difficult for me to go and see them

I get on with most people but need support with some interactions as there are many different personalities that attend the day centre

Person Centred Feedback Form Report for 2012

This year 12 people said that they were involved in romantic relationships. Almost half indicated that they had friendships. These are similar to previous years' numbers.

70 people told us that they had contact with family members. This number has been slowly but steadily rising over the past 3 years.

57 people indicated they would like to make some changes in respect of their relationships. Most of these respondents wished to have more contact with or an improved relationship with someone they knew already.

There was a reduction in the percentage of people indicating they wanted to organise social contact around a given activity, venue or schedule. It seems this year people were more focussed on the relationship(s) and less on the activity or venue within which the relationships occur.

What people said about where and how I live:

I am happy with where I live as I get on well with everyone who lives there

I live with my mum. I have carers who visit me at home to support this

I have very specific needs for a house, and it is hard to find somewhere for me to live, and someone for me to live with

I have new flooring in my bedroom which is easier for me to keep clean and I particularly enjoy mopping it!

Almost half of respondents said something good about where they live more than half said they were 'happy with their accommodation and did not want to move'.

Only 4 people said something they do not like about where they live and this is about the same percentage as previous years.

20 people reported being pleased by a change which had occurred during the last year. However, 7 people indicated a negative change in their accommodation and that is the highest number ever.
